Quite the most pleasant party of the summer was that given by Mr. and Mrs. Neville Moberley Saturday evening in honor of their house party. This de-lightful event was in the form of a picnic held at beautiful "Forest Grove' about a mile from town. Thither the favored guests drove in the dusky twi-light and found a very fairy land await-ing them A small valley, by the aid of magic lanterns, had been transformed into a realistic enchanted grotto, through whose depths coursed a cool and babbling brook. The enchantment, of this poetic sylvan scene was presently-enhanced by the arrival of a refreshment car, plentifully laden with choice edibles and delicious ices, whose sumption was a real gastronom treat. In music, games and conversation the evening glided away with an imperceptible speed and with reluctance indeed partings were made and adieux said. As souvenirs the guests retained the dainty silver spoons with which their ices were served, and that Mr. and Mrs. Moberley were ideal hosts, was the emphatic comment of
